

The proposals before the FCC for further media consolidation are a recipe for disaster. As Ben Bagdikian has so comprehensively shown in his book "The Media Monopoly", the increasing concentration of media ownership in the hands of fewer and fewer corporations is extremely harmful to free speech, diversity of opinions, and democracy. Please delay your vote and allow more public input.